

The G2 Gallery and The Theodore Payne Foundation present “Waterwise Irrigation for Native Plants”

Irrigation Consultant Bob Galbreath Will Teach the Best Conservation Methods for Our Dry Southern California Climate on February 21, 2010

WHO: Irrigation Consultant Bob Galbreath will lead a class at The G2 Gallery, a green art space specializing in nature and wildlife photography. The Theodore Payne Foundation for Wildflowers & Native Plants, a non-profit organization dedicated to promoting the understanding, use and preservation of the California native flora, will co-host the event. A former certified irrigation designer and landscape contractor, Bob recently retired from his position as Landscape Water Resources Manager with the Environmental Programs Division of the City of Santa Monica.

WHAT: Essential information for every gardener. Irrigation Consultant Bob Galbreath will teach the basics on techniques and equipment for water-efficient irrigation in urban landscapes. You’ll learn what to use, when and where to use it.

To register, call The Theodore Payne Foundation at (818) 768-1802. Cost is $25 for Theodore Payne Foundation members and $35 for non-members.
